

Branson urges new dam on Carmel River

A Congressional committee last week was told that a flood control and water conservation dam was urgently needed on the Carmel River.

Willard T. Branson, chairman of the Monterey County board of supervisors, expressed the need as critical when he appeared in Los Angeles to testify before the House subcommittee on public works.

The 3-man subcommittee told Branson that they would take up the matter with Rep. Burt Talcott of Salinas, who represents this area; Talcott could not attend the hearing.

Branson, himself a resident of Carmel Valley, pointed out that the Valley is now inadequately protected with only two small water storage dams, and that the development of property on and near the Valley floor has increased the possibility of huge loss of life and property in the event of a major flood.

During last month's heavy downpour many bridges were destroyed or damaged, roads washed out and many homes flooded, and only a miracle prevented heavier losses.

Branson told the congressional group that January flood damage in Monterey County reached an estimated $8 million, in addition to damage to public facilities of $1,275,000.

Roads in Carmel Valley were especially hard hit, and Carmel Valley Road two miles west of the Village was so heavily eroded that it will be months before it can be repaired and restored to 2-way traffic.

Among the heavier losses to private property in the county included severe damage to the Carmel Golf & Country Club.

Fifth graders to return to Carmel elementary schools

The 149 ten-year-olds at Carmel Middle School will find their place in the history books as the only fifth graders ever to attend that school — at least, within the foreseeable future.

That was the decision meted out by the district's Board of Education last week as they voted in favor of placing the fifth grade back into the elementary schools as from September of this year.

Dr. Harris Taylor, in summarizing the situation, said that both the administrative staff and the Board were split in their opinions, and that the result of the public hearing into the matter also gave no clear mandate.

Thus Dr. Taylor recommended that the elementary schools be used for the fifth grades in order to relieve pressure on Middle School, which, although it could handle next year's load, would be unable to cope beyond that point.

He also assured questioners that there would be no need to curtail library space at River and Woods schools, as the estimated 160 children would use only eight of the eleven rooms at present classified as vacant — i.e. not used to capacity.

Board members Richard Wilsdon and Rev. James Brock were concerned that a relocation of the fifth grade would result in a loss of quality of their program, especially in music, art, and physical education. Mr. Wilsdon also said that he considered the action to be premature, and that he would rather not disrupt the present 4-4-4 program until there was no alternative.

Dr. Hilton Bialek moved that the fifth grade be placed in the elementary schools, and the motion was carried 3-2 with Clayton Neill, President Steven Sassoon and Dr. Bialek voting in favor.

In other action items, the Board approved the January expenditure list, which included supplies for various departments: Arts & Crafts — $1235, Athletics & P.E. — $1188, Music — $1738, Science — $352, Library — $1380, and $1391 for supplementary textbooks.

APPOINTMENT

The appointment of Mrs. Ethelyne Eikenberry, as Middle School librarian, was approved — she replaces Miss Eleanor Crouch. The board also accepted twelve substitute teachers for employment as needed during the current school year.

Based upon a December 1968 evaluation, the District's Administration recommended an 11% increase in the building replacement costs, bringing it to an estimated total of just over $5 million. The Board appeared satisfied with the recommendation, made for insurance purposes, and voted accordingly on Mr. Wilsdon's motion to authorize the increase.

The Tulareitos School primary addition will be open for business on March 3. Before that, however, there will be a formal inspection by the Board at 10 a.m. on Thursday, February 20.

As a result of a meeting between Administration and the Regional Education Center for Automated Processing (RECAP), the Board decided to transfer the District's data processing service to the regional center, in Santa Clara county.

At present, the District employs an IBM operator to work with the facilities at Monterey Peninsula College — the switch to RECAP would result in a cost saving of about 25%, as well as providing a more complete service.

Under the National Defense Education Act, the District may apply for funds to employ a counselor: Dan Yurkovich was authorized by the Board to apply for a grant of $8000 to assist

VOL. VIII, NO. 6 10 Cents Carmel Valley, California February 19, 1969

RICK FRYE was dumped into the Carmel River when he joined an adult group attempting the hazardous trip to the foot of the valley. He is shown at the right looking very much like a part of the up-rooted scene about him.

Surging Carmel River now a water raceway

Grown-ups have joined the race down the river.

Last week-end saw a fleet of inner tubes, beach mats, surf boards, and kayaks on Carmel river as well as a pontoon off a seaplane. The goal is to negotiate the 13 mile waterway to the mouth of the valley.

Those who can testify to the hazardous journey are Bill Parham, who lost both motor and boat, Ray Gere, Rick Frye, Wally Le Valley, Doug Darrock, and Gerry Paddock.

Starting at Lazy Oaks, the group set out maneuvering log jams and fallen trees only to have a number of mishaps bein meeting the salary of an elementary school counselor.

A similar proposal was approved last year, but a suitably qualified person was not found, and the federal money was returned unused.

MORE E.H. CLASSES?

Dr. Taylor announced that preliminary discussions were under way for the 1969-70 instruction in art and music, and for the formation of additional classes for the educationally handicapped.

Twenty one children already benefit from this program, which is for students of normal intelligence who have difficulty because of severe neurological or emotional problems.

Dr. Taylor said that there was a need for three more classes, in addition to the three at Middle, Carmelo, and River schools, but that the chance of State approval for all three was slight. Dr. Bialek asked for a report on the current classes.

Also under discussion was the possibility of starting a class for the educable mentally retarded — previously there were not enough children in any one age group to satisfy State requirements for such a class.

The Board then went into a closed executive session, with dates for the next regular meetings set for February 26 and March 12.

SPCA holds open house at La Vega Verde

A rousing welcome is promised for visitors to the new shelter of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals when they will be open for visitors at La Vega Verde from noon to 6 p.m.

The new location site is on the Monterey-Salinas Highway opposite the Laguna Seca raceway.

The grounds for the building were dedicated in April of last year, and the buildings have since been completed with the transference of the animals made.

Mrs. Gwendolyn May, executive director and humane officer of the society, is a familiar figure in Carmel Valley. She answers many calls in her Volkswagen bus.

High School students raced down the river starting at Farm Center Bridge. A large number of teachers, students and on-lookers crowded the bridges to watch the start. The races ended with kayaks winning hands down.

Mrs. Woolfenden named to Valley Advisory Board

Mrs. John Woolfenden was named as a new member of the Upper Carmel Valley Advisory Board at a meeting of the Monterey County Planning Commission last week.

Mrs. Woolfenden replaces Mrs. Corrine Smith who has served two 3-year terms on the board. Having recently moved to the Lower Valley, Mrs. Smith felt that in all fairness, she should not remain on the Upper Valley Board, as she is now more oriented to the Lower Valley.

The seven-member Advisory Board, headed by Doyt Early, includes Morden Buck, Louis Gardner, Bill Dundore, Melvin L. Blevens, and Milton (Skip) Marquard.

Mrs. Woolfenden has been active in valley organizations, having been affiliated with the Garden Club, and the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association.

Heavy rains triple record

Almost three more inches of rain was added to weather charts during the past week with a total of 22.21 recorded Tuesday morning at the Carmel Valley Fire Station.

The amount of rainfall more than triples last year's recording of 7.71.

Rainfall for the week since the last Outlook edition is as follows:

February 12	1.97

February 15	.67

Heavy rains hit the valley two years ago, but it does not compare to the present precipitation. The recorded amount two years ago to date was 13.7, a little less than half of what the valley has had so far.

Carmel High takes perfect slate to Santa Cruz playoff

by Harold Gann

After clinching the MTAL Championship last Tuesday with a hard-fought 7-point victory over the Mustangs at King City, you'd think Carmel's Varsity Basketball team would have coasted in their game at home against Holy Cross last Friday night.

But the Padres were on their toes at all times to eke past the Panthers, 62-61, in the season's most thrilling game.

The Padres will play Santa Cruz, champ of the Monterey Bay League, at the Cabrillo College Gymnasium, Aptos, next Wednesday at 8:00 o'clock to determine who goes to the Coast Counties Tournament at the Santa Clara Civic Auditorium, Feb. 27, 28, and March 1. Should Carmel upset Santa Cruz, Coach Jason Harbert will have to floor a makeshift entry for the 23rd Annual Carmel High Invitational Basketball Tournament, which will occur the very same dates as the Coast Counties!

Next Padre Basketball Sport-cast is the game at Gonzales (the final league tilt) this Thursday night over KRSA-FM (100.7 Mc), broadcast time, 8:30 and air time for the big one next Wednesday evening with Santa Cruz is 7:30.

With tenacious Guard Ross Smith knocked out for the season with a foot injury sustained in the KC tilt, and Cornerman Steve Taylor with a severely sprained knee forcing the Junior out of the game midway through the second half, the prospect looked very dim for the Padres to pick up their 12th straight league encounter without defeat against a hell-bent-for-revenge Holy Cross team.

But once again, it was The Magnificent Wink (6-5 Bruce Winkler) scorching the nets for 30 points, grabbing 19 timely rebounds, blocking 5 would-be buckets, and intercepting 6 passes to pull the game out of the fire for Carmel.

It doubtless would have been Taylor's greatest hour, had he not been forced to leave with the injury, as the sharp-shooting forward was performing the press to perfection, and coming up with many interceptions. Senior Forward Chris Laiolo turned in another scintillating performance... 12 points, 10 rebounds, and 7 assists.

The game with Holy Cross saw action on the part of 6-4 Ken Houston, Senior, another transfer student like Winkler, who did not become eligible 'till the second semester. He scored only 2 points, but seemed to get the feel of things toward the end of the game, and should be quite valuable for the Padres.

But there is no substitute for the ball-hawking and quarter-backing ability of Ross Smith, who is out for the season. He could set the Padres up from his top-of-the-key position. And Steve Taylor appears to be a doubtful starter; he was valuable not only in the press but in hitting from the outside.

Anyhow, it is doubtful that Carmel, even at full strength, could have taken Santa Cruz, according to the experts. The Cardinals lost in the finals of last year's Northern California Playoffs at Stanford, and this year returning with four starters have wiped out everything in sight.

It's going to be a very interesting ball game!

Is It Worth $25

You hear a lot these days about "getting involved", and being "where the action is".

Of course many don't care for involvement, nor action either.

That's the way, as the cliché goes, the cookie crumbles.

We would like to suggest, though, that every business in Carmel Valley seriously consider "getting involved" and "being where the action is" — by joining the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce.

This "action group" claimed 70 members last year.

Not bad, for a community as relatively small as this one is.

But, the obvious next question, what about the other hundred businesses? How come they were on the sidelines? Can they afford to "let the other guy" carry the ball for them?

A Chamber of Commerce is more than just a group of guys and gals sitting around a luncheon table once or twice a month.

It is more than a discussion group, where the talk is heavy and the action light.

It is more than a group with self-interest and self-indulgence the only motivation.

What is it then?

Well, in the case of Carmel Valley, it is the business community working together to help ensure a stable economy, to aid in the ordered development of one of California's loveliest valleys, and to assist one another.

The word is: cooperation.

Carmel Valley is the chosen place of each businessman and businesswoman operating here. Surely each one can afford $25 (annual dues in the chamber) to help ensure his or her investment. A paltry "insurance premium", to be sure.

Carmel Valley chamber has under consideration an active program for 1969. It intends on carrying it out, under the fine leadership of Bob Kvenild.

It will invest several thousand dollars in carrying out a program of community events and carefully-planned promotions.

These programs aren't just for the membership; they are for the benefit of all businesses, and many individuals.

Thus it behooves every commercial enterprise in the Valley — from the Village area westward to the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center — to get behind (and in) the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce.

It does make sense.

And what's wrong in getting involved where the action is?

PERSPECTIVE

TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

At a meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Carmel Valley Board of Directors held on February 6, 1969, the enclosed resolution was passed unanimously. This resolution is similar to one recently passed by the Board of Trustees of the California-Nevada-Hawaii District of Kiwanis International.

Further, the Board voted that the resolution be forwarded to our newspaper, the Carmel Valley Outlook, for publication, subject, of course, to your approval.

Your help and cooperation in what we believe is an important policy stand by our organization will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

George Clifford, President
Kiwanis Club of Carmel Valley

FOR THOSE fortunate enough to catch a steelhead, Mary Kunz (Mrs. Karl) has a recipe for barbecuing a good sized one.

Season inside fish with lemon pepper, and slices of onion and lemon.

Wrap in chicken wire so it is easy for turning.

Baste with barbecue sauce.

Place fish on rack in barbecue and close lid. If your barbecue does not have a lid, make one of foil. Covering the fish gives it an added taste.

EVELYN RHOADES easily found her 50 signatures — and then some — for her petition protesting the blind Bank of America exit to Valley Road. Her next stop was to mail them in to the road commission in Salinas which she has done via registered mail. According to a recent issue of the Reader's Digest, after a petition is presented, the county Planning Commission is liable for lawsuits. The road department has lots of other headaches too right now.

A LARGE TRUCK using the Miramonte Road bypass last Tuesday broke off a big oak limb while negotiating a narrow, twisting section of the detour.

The limb was seen by county road department workers who were engaged in trimming some of the lower overhanging branches and trying to make the road safer for the heavy traffic it is now carrying.

Anyhow, they proceeded to cut up the 8-in. limb and left the pile of wood on the roadside. The owner noticed what had happened and called her woodsmen to retrieve the wood. But by the time he arrived 10 or 15 minutes later, some husky travelers had absconded with the entire lot.

At around $50 a cord, it wasn't a bad steal.

ESTHER JONES is still isolated on her island, off Lower Circle. The water took the bridge and about 30% of the island, too. Mail, food, and necessities are sent by bucket across the raging water.

The telephone was the first to be replaced after the first storm. It was followed later by electricity and last week by gas and finally, rainwater was replaced with fresh water via a hose stretched across the river.

Until a bridge is put back, Mrs. Jones lives with her dog, two cats and a chicken.

PROCRASTINATION

Let's take a few seconds to ponder

The things we should do, but we don't,

Like fixing the door or that hole in the floor

We ought to do now, but we won't.

Too often we let our minds wander,

Put off writing letters past due;

There's dishes to wash, and the garden, by gosh,

Looks worse than a jungle --- it's true!

There isn't much time left to squander,

Regardless of what we may think.

The first thing you know there'll be nothing to show

For years you have poured down the sink.

Though maybe we're all growing fonder

Of pressing the flesh on our seat,

We'll find that we've built up a complex of guilt

Surrounded by walls of deceit.

Before we are summoned up yonder,

Let's earn peace of mind, if desired;

Don't put off for months what you should do at once.

(I'd do that myself, but I'm tired!)

Students shuffle Hora Nicorda

PETTICOATS

Some of the dances, Sirbianka, Laz Ba, Ma Navu, Hora Nicorda, Hora Agadate, Syrto, and Hashual, just to name a few, require steps that seem to go with the nature of the dress of the native people. For instance in one dance for women, long flowing full petticoat dresses are worn. So, the step is for a swaying of the hips.

Daoud tries to dance as many dances in one evening so that one can learn them as the class progresses.

A Youth Center membership card and dresses for the girls is all that is required.

Daoud has also opened classes at the Sunset Center for young people as well as older. These classes are on Saturdays at 8:00 p.m. in the cafeteria.

"It's a feeling like when I hear one of those songs I start sweating and getting all tensed up. When I start dancing, everything is fine," Jackie Smithson describes how she feels about folk dancing classes. The Greek, Armenian, Israeli, and Serbian folk dances have just been introduced to Carmel High students at the Youth Center, Wednesday nights at 7:30.

The dances are vigorous and when through dancing a good feeling prevails, with smiles all over.

When someone commented he was tired, Al Daoud, the instructor, answered, "You are not dancing correctly if you aren't."

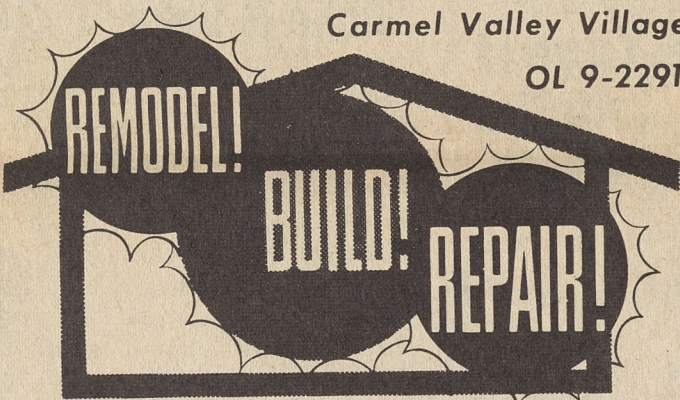

"After you've danced for a long time you can feel like you're floating," added Karen Hansen.

Laguna Seca has 3 pro races slated for 1969

Three professional road races are scheduled for Laguna Seca raceway this year.

All three are sanctioned by the Sports Car Club of America, making the Monterey track one of only three in the nation to run all three SCCA pro races in 1969.

The schedule:
May 3-4 - Laguna Seca Continental Championship for Formula Cars.

August 23-24 - Laguna Seca Trans Am Championship.

October 10-12 - Monterey-Castrol Grand Prix (Can-Am).

First race of the season, May 3 and 4, is the popular open-wheel single seat Formula cars. Formula A cars with American 305 cubic inch V-8 engines make up the field, with performance and appearance much like that of Indy racers.

Dr. Lou Sell, driving the Smothers Brothers' - Wynn's Eagle-Chevrolet won the Formula A race and championship at Laguna Seca last fall, narrowly beating out George Wintersteen in a similar car. Formula B cars, with smaller engines, also will run this series in 1969, but in separate races, making a two-race program.

Again, big names like Chuck Parsons, Sam Posey, Lothar Motschenbacher and others will handle the hairy pure-racing machines on the twisty, undulating circuit at Monterey.

On August 23 and 24, comes the popular Trans Am Championship, won by Mark Donohue last year in Roger Penske's Sunoco-Hilton Camaro. Mustangs, Javelins, Firebirds, Cougars, Darts and similar American cars round out the racing field, piloted by some of the biggest names in road racing; many with factory sponsorship.

Donohue, Parnelli Jones, Peter Revson, Jerry Titus, Ron Bucknum, Horst Kuech, all are scheduled to drive.

Third race at Laguna Seca this year is the Monterey-Castrol Grand Prix, eighth race of the Canadian-American Challenge Cup series - and first 1969 Can-Am race for the West Coast. With the series expanded to 11 races, total prize money takes a monumental jump to over one million dollars and the final three-race western series takes on new significance.

More than $200,000 is in the points prize jackpot at the end of the series.

LARRY IS 30!

Many (oh very MANY!) years ago when Roger Sherman had just celebrated his 30th birthday, he was on a hunting expedition with Larry Busick and had to stop so frequently to rest that the much (oh very MUCH!) younger hunting companion decided that to be thirty was through the "door marked nevermore"!

Over the years it has been a standing feud between the two friends that climaxed last week when as everyone in the Valley must know, Larry Busick became THIRTY!

An adv. in the OUTLOOK announced the approaching date. A sign hung in front of the General Store kept it constantly in the thoughts of his many friends until finally the day arrived. Kathy and Roger Sherman had mailed party invitations shaped like black coffins.

The message read in part... "To honor the passing of Larry Busick's twenty-ninth year, please come and pay respects!"

The loyal friends who arrived on Paso Hondo to console the guest of honor found the door draped in black and a lily gracing the door. Crazy cards and gag gifts were placed about the poster boards, mounted with pictures which showed the aging of L.B.!

In addition to his wife, Harriet, the guests at Larry's 'wake' included his cousin and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Don Busick, who were houseguests from San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Dean McFadden, Mr. and Mrs. Hap Thystrup, Mr. and Mrs. Erasimo Belleci, Mr. and Mrs. Linden Egli, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Van Hagen, Mr. and Mrs. John Mark, Mrs. Linda Scherman, and Bill Conlan.

Isn't it fortunate for his many friends (AND for Larry!) that they have TEN years to prepare for his fortieth!

NEW SOCIAL GROUP

Mrs. John Frumanski of 99 Sage Road invited the ladies from her husband's section (MN-B9 in the Management Curriculum at the Naval Post Graduate School) to a brunch last week. It was the first social activity for the new group so business and pleasure were combined during the get-acquainted session.

A special welcome was given to the two International wives who belong to the Section, Mrs. Maurd Brasil of Brazil, and Mrs. Jerry Stevenson, who had just arrived from Canada.

Others attending were Mmes. Joseph Anderson, James Beall, Chris Burns, Russell Earnst, Bruce Dutton, John Fedor, Leslie Edwards, Philip Hartman, Robert Kramer, Perry Peterson, Stephen Sayl, Marv Peacock, Paul Tregy, Keith Stewart, and Frank Zumolzak. Additional guests were Mrs. Lola Sousic and Mrs. Frank De Amaral, Jr.,

Valentine's Day, the wives were joined by their husbands for cocktails and a potluck dinner hosted at their home by Cmdr. and Mrs. Furmanksi. Terry had used a clever Snoopy-Peanuts Valentine decorating scheme and turned her front door into a giant Valentine.

The menu featured continental cuisine with dishes prepared from recipes collected by the Navy families from all over the world.

MISS IBSEN IN HOSPITAL

Reading even the label on a soup can is an impossibility in Carmel Valley without thinking of Miss Marjorie Ibsen, so strong is the motivation association with the gracious lady who was our Village librarian for ten years. Auntie Marge is a patient these days at the Driftwood Convalescent Hospital. The address is 1575 Toyon Drive - Monterey, for any of you who would like to drop a "thinking of you" note.

GRANDSON HONORED

Happy news on Live Oak Lane at the Ralph Mills home where a very proud grandmother has received word that her oldest grandson, Brian Boles, has been nominated for an appointment to Annapolis.

Brian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Boles of San Gabriel, has many friends in the Valley made during vacations spent with his grandparents. A busy young man; he is president of his class, a member of the California Scholarship Federation, on the debating team, a letterman in track, and an Eagle Scout. Sharing the exciting announcement is Mrs. Mill's houseguest, her sister-in-law, Mrs. Sam Cobb, whose home is in Butler, Missouri.

VALENTINE'S PARTY

Lucky the little girl born near February 14th, because it gives her such a pretty decorating theme for a birthday party!

Such was the case last week when Elaine Washington became five years old. Valentine hearts and ballerinas were used about the table and on the cake. Enjoying the afternoon of games were Sandra Pryer, Elizabeth Ritchie, Mary Smeltzer, Doris Draper, Jeanine Harber, Diane McKenzie, Gwyn-Pat DeAmaral, Steven Bailie, and Elaine's brother, Kevin. Elaine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Washington of Ford Road.

BEAUTY CLINIC

"How to be Luv-ly and fantastically fabulous" was demonstrated by a representative from Yardley of London, Inc. to seventh and eighth grade girls last Friday at Carmel Middle School.

A Beauty Clinic followed on Saturday at Macy's with many girls from the Valley enrolled in the three-hour course dealing with skin care and the proper application of cosmetics. The tips were timely for the Junior High's Valentine Dance.

THOSE WERE THE GOOD OLD DAYS

Valentine's Day in Carmel Valley never fails to fill the old timers with nostalgia for the good times they used to have at the annual Horseman's Dances held at Holmans Guest ranch.

There was always a western orchestra, patio dancing and refreshments. According to Lil Redding who was doing the publicity in 1951 and 1952, they were informal but "nothing horsey despite the name!"

GIRL SCOUTS VISIT THE CITY

Never was a Musician's Badge more fun to earn than the requirements which were fulfilled by Girl Scout Troop #2012 which drove to San Francisco to attend a performance of "The Nutcracker."

Troop leader Mrs. Wesley Martin knew a number of the members of the cast and among the friends made during the years when her sister danced with the company, Miss Virginia Johnson. The lovely ballerina welcomed the girls as her guests and gave them an additional tour backstage. While in The City the girls also visited the Museum and the Aquarium.

Since their Investiture Ceremony in the Fall, the Troop has been a busy one. They have learned to tie knots, knife safety, and also baked cookies to give to the patients when they visited the Carmel Convalescent Hospital.

Last weekend they enjoyed a skating party at Del Monte Gardens which helped to complete requirements for their skating badge.

Members of the Girls Scout Troop include: Connie Lorenz, Debbie Huszah, Weslyn Martin, Debbie Esleshio, Debbie Lorenz, Linda Tedrow, Peggy Draper, Ruthie Anderson, Judy Koon, Denice McFadden, Sherrie Rhoades, Debbie Nielsen, and Karen Knight.

THANK YOU

Sincere thanks for your response to the request for an old Valley Fare Cook Book. File complete... case closed! Now about those Betty Crocker coupons for the Fire Department Auxiliary...

MPVS assists foreign student program

To assist in their Foreign Student program, the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services voted to contribute $200 to Carmel Chapter of the American Field Service at its February meeting.

At present there is a student from Malaysia attending Carmel High School and a Carmel girl living as an exchange student in Vienna.

Also, the sum of $250 was given to the Tri-County Science Fair, to be held in Watsonville at the Santa Cruz Fairgrounds April 16th to 20th, to help defray the cost of sending the winners and runner-up to compete at the International Science Fair. This gift is similar to the amount advanced for the same purpose in former years.

Announcement was made that the net proceeds from the Thrift Shop operated by the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services in Seaside, for the first two weeks in March would be given to the Children's Home Society.

Contributions for the Thrift Shop from members of the Children's Home Society may be taken to the Shop at any time between now and the dates of the sale. They should be clearly marked for this organization.

The Annual Spring Garden Tour of MPVS will be held this year in mid-May, the exact date to be announced later.

MPC enrollment up

A "first report" on Monterey Peninsula College's spring semester enrollment was made by President George J. Faul at the February meeting of the MPC board of trustees last week.

They showed a 2,794 day enrollment, 19 per cent over the figure for last spring; and 2,317 evening enrollment, 14 per cent more than last spring, plus an additional 1,069 day students taking night classes as a part of their total program.

The total enrollment, Dr. Faul said, breaks down to 57 per cent men and 43 per cent women; 55 per cent continuing students and 45 per cent newly enrolled.

A total of 586, day and night, have A.B. or higher degrees; 880 are transfers from other colleges; and 244 are "advanced placement" students — local high school students who are taking MPC courses either on or off campus.

Out of the total enrollment, 38 per cent hold full-time jobs.

STERLING D. MUMMERT, lower left in plaid jacket, explains to All Saints' Day School students, action of Carmel River on school property.

Students see river erosion right at their own back door

Rivers, floods and landslides were the center of interest at All Saints' Day School recently when Sterling D. Mummert, veteran conservationist, came for a visit.

All the pupils and their teachers accompanied Mr. Mummert to the section of river bank bordering the school property where a new contour had been carved by the heavy flow of water in the Carmel River.

Mr. Mummert spoke to the boys and girls about soil erosion, geographical formations, and the characteristics of river, particularly the Carmel River, a subject on which he is an expert.

For many years, Mr. Mummert was connected with the U.S. Forest Service, the National Parks Service, and the Soil Conservation Service. He is now retired and living in Carmel Valley.

New center informs on use of drugs

The Drug Information and Youth Crisis Center of Monterey County announced today the opening of its new offices at 591 Lighthouse Avenue, Pacific Grove, Suite #2.

The Drug Center began as a pilot program July 8, 1968 and has since become an effective instrument in informing and counselling county residents concerning the use of drugs and other chemicals. Center Coordinator, Mrs. W.A. Semple, states that since the beginning of the program, they have received 400 calls of pertinent nature requiring the services of her or her volunteer staff.

Over 80 crisis situations have been handled by the Center. These situations involved placement in emergency housing, sitting with individuals who are high on drugs, middle of the night counselling situations, etc.....

SERVICES

During the month of January, the Center had 15 nights of emergency housing, 32 separate speaking engagements to a wide variety of groups such as P.T.A.'s churches, service clubs, military and private groups, school leaders and teachers.

Also in January there were 30 private counselling sessions and at least 1 group session per week. The age of the individuals counselled varied from ten through fifty.

The Center has five films available to the public concerning drug education. A resource library is being developed. A variety of pieces of literature are available. Education and counselling occupies the majority of Mrs. Semple's time. She is presently instructing an Adult Education Class at Pacific Grove High School on Monday evening.

Besides Mrs. Semple the immediate office staff consists of four volunteers. The Center Board of Directors, along with other professionals in the county, volunteer their time as speakers and counsellors.

LEISURE TIMES

Choral Society The name of the game is 'farce' in Circle's latest offering performs in Pacific Grove

The Monterey Peninsula Choral Society announces its third annual Festival of Renaissance Music to be held in Pacific Grove at the First Methodist Church, Saturday, March 1, 8 p.m., and Sunday, March 2, 3 p.m.

The chorus is under the direction of Haymo Taeuber, Conductor of Monterey County Symphony.

Tickets are now available at the following locations: Central Box Office, Carmel; Monterey County Symphony Office, Sunset Center, Carmel; ABC Music

Farce is certainly the word to describe the comedy now playing at the Circle Theatre in Carmel.

J.B. Priestley's "When We Are Married" opened to huzzahs Friday night before an amused audience. It wasn't a capacity crowd, but quite good considering the persistent rain showers.

A cast which included both the experienced and inexperienced had a rollicking good time with the odd and funny situations which Priestley created, and it must be said that Director Charles Thomas did a splendid job in selecting his players.

One of the pleasant surprises was Evelyn Hughes, a freshman at Carmel High School, who was entrusted with one of the key roles — that of Ruby Birtle, the adolescent but perceptive maid.

She had some difficult lines and a demanding role, and brought them off with plaudits.

STARTS SLOWLY

The play unfolded rather slowly, but picked up the pace perceptibly in the second act, which ended with a smasherous situation. The third and final act was packed with action, perhaps too much at times, but by this time the spectators were prepared for almost anything.

The play has been around for over 30 years, and for good reason. It is one of those situation comedies dealing with intimate human relations, in this case, marriage.

Priestley sets it all up with a proposed triple silver wedding celebration, and concomitantly complicates it with the celebrant's plan to fire their "loose living" church organist.

The organist, played with a commendable degree of archness by Saxon Rawlings, promptly retaliates with the scandalous information that the parson who performed the marriages hadn't the proper authority.

Well, the reactions of the spouses to this tidy bit of news is hilarious indeed, and crumbles away some of the shopworn ties that had held all three of the marriage bonds together.

At about the moment when it appeared that all the couples for one reason or another, were delighted that they "weren't really married", Priestley solves the dilemma in a hilarious finish.

A FINE CAST

A great deal could be said about the unusual cast of players. Emily Ford Leonard as Mrs. Northrop, the housekeeper, certainly didn't underplay her role as a blunt busybody who tormented the spouses all evening.

The same can be said for Ed Shinbrot, as Councillor Albert Parker, who kept the action in an uproar both figuratively and literally. Donald J. Ross played Herbert Soppitt, the henpecked husband, whose manhood finally came forth, with a fine edge of professionalism.

The female spouses — portrayed by Betty Hughes, Donna Howland and Mary Burton — registered a commendable aptness for light comedy in their highly diverse roles, while Vern Peckover as the photographer thoroughly integrated himself into probably the most difficult role in the play. Invited to shoot a picture for the Argus, he finds himself caught up in the increasingly sticky situation, and winds up resolving it.

Eliane Yates as Nancy Holmes is the only breath of fresh young beauty in the play; Judy Kay Dawson as the "painted lady" leaves nothing to the imagination.

Costuming for this period piece, handled by Adele Bramlet, was effectively accomplished.

This offering plays weekends until late in March; it is a good bet that the Community Theatre players have another winner. —GMD

"LISTEN TO THE STREAM"

That's the invitation written over the door of a little house by a mountain stream in a fern-filled redwood canyon some 14 miles South of Carmel. The cottage is built of redwood with doors and windows which open wide to the music of the creek, on all-year background, wild and wonderful in the spring, quiet and gentle through the summer. The house is tiny, about 660 square feet, with division into three rooms and a bath. Rustic inside and out, redwood shake roof, Swedish fireplace, and all wrapped round by forest primeval. The price is $22,500 and a fair amount of cash is required.

AND A NOTE ABOUT THAT HOUSE
WITH THE STREAM IN THE LIVING ROOM

No, no, no! It isn't flooded! The delightful brook is built in, intentional, PLANNED! See, there's this waterfall (yes, it was intended, too) which is the first thing you see as you walk down the fascinating hallway to the living areas with their circular stone walls, incense cedar paneling, fabulous view of the mountains through floor-to-ceiling glass - and all the things we said in the other ads directed, if you will recall, "to an individualist with flair and imagination". We're still looking for that person for this unusual home in Carmel Valley. The price is $37,500.

Friends of Photography to hold new exhibit

The Friends of Photography Gallery, at San Carlos at 9th in Carmel, will have an opening on February 22 of a showing of two outstanding photographers' works.

Wayne Gravning, born in Fargo, North Dakota in 1935, began photographic work in 1958. He has studied with Ansel Adams and at the University of New Mexico under David Read. He has photographed with Minor White and is presently a Cinematographer with Sandia Corp. in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

He has had various showings including the George Eastman House, the Museum of Modern Art, the Quivira Gallery and the University of New Mexico and many others.

His philosophy seems to be to let his photographs speak for themselves and finds this more satisfactory than trying to use words to describe his works.

Oliver L. Gagliani is a native Californian, born in Placerville in 1917. He began combining his prime interest in music with photography prior to World War II. During the World War II, he began using a photo-journalistic approach to photograph the people of New Guinea.

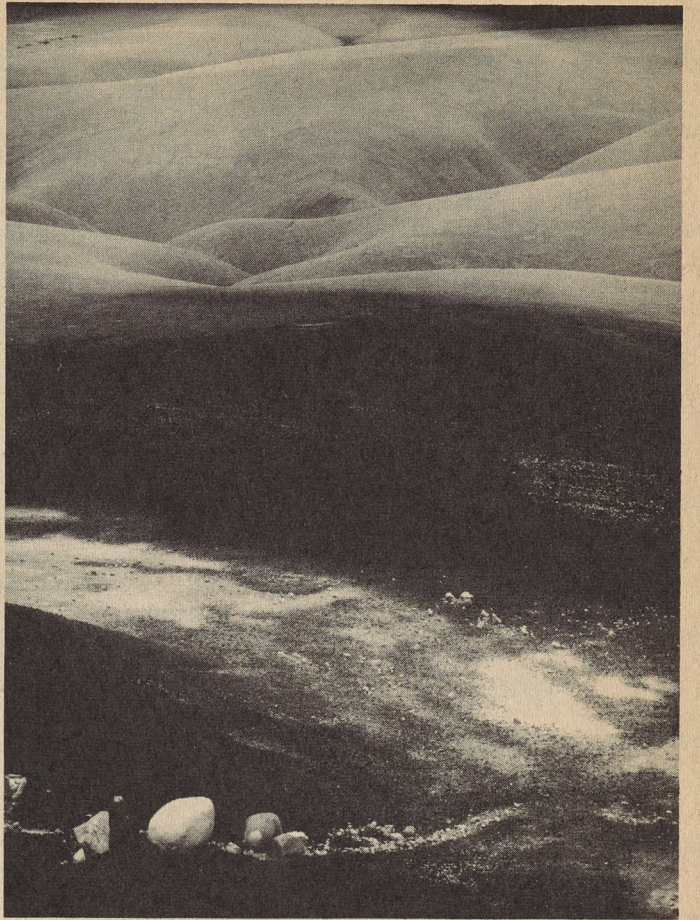

Later, he was greatly impressed by Paul Strands' photography and after attending California School of Fine Arts under Ansel Adams, and a later workshop with Minor White, his serious interest in photography was confirmed.

At this stage in his photography he says that first, "you must connect with the subject in the sense that you recognize that a meaningful image can be created, to convey as well as document, the interplay which occurs between yourself and the discovered image. One must wait until the hidden meaning is revealed. Recognize that there is a spiritual meaning in the subject, but wait until the climax of its revelation, as your own personal spirit gets out of the way."

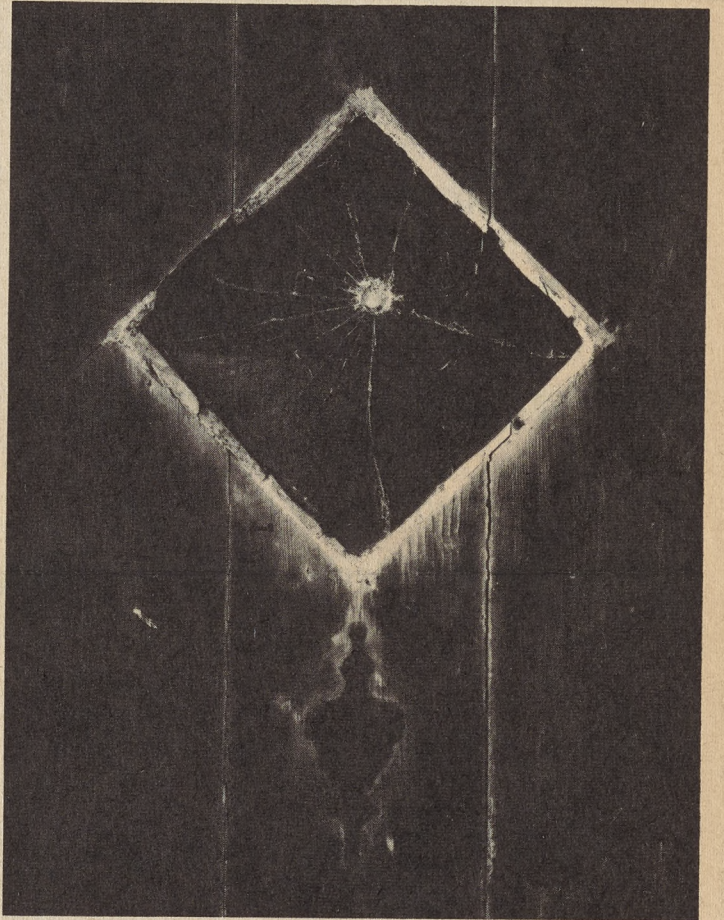

"Photography in the future will eventually return to the primary essentials of the single image, but the return will be one of greater wisdom and depth."

His shows have included Photo 68, Arizona State, Light-7, Focus Gallery, Oakland Museum, California Legion of Honor, George Eastman House, and many others.

The show will run from the 22nd of February thru March 28th. The gallery is open from 1-5 p.m. daily except Mondays.

WHAT'S DOING?

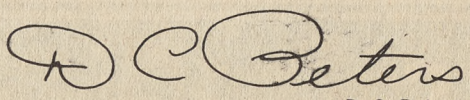

I'm sure that most of our local businessmen will agree that advertising in the Yellow Pages is one of the best ways to get new business. It's always gratifying when someone tells us "I really like to hear that line 'I saw your ad in the Yellow pages.'" So, if you're a businessman, and have a product or service to sell, we suggest that you reserve your ad (if you haven't already done so) in the next edition of the Yellow Pages. Our salesmen are in town right now. Call us at 375-9531 and we'll see that someone gets in touch with you.

You know, the telephone installer is a good example of the kind of helpful people we've got working for us. He's more than a specialist at installing telephones, he's also a specialist at helping people. The job he does is an individual one, tailored to your particular needs. He puts his technical know-how to work so you get the kind of telephone service you want, and he's supplied with a real "tool chest on wheels" to help him do it. He's got over 150 supply items in his truck that help him tackle your job—which is never quite like anyone else's.

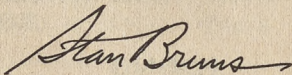

The Monterey Peninsula YMCA opened its 1969 Fund Drive last week. Eight hundred Peninsula youths participated in last year's events, and more are expected this year. This drive is the only source of operating funds for the "Y." All of the money received is used in programs to develop and direct the growth of the Peninsula's future leaders. Those wishing to contribute can do so by contacting the YMCA at 373-4166.

THE TIKI SAYS

After our heavy rains in January a lot of people were probably unable to get their dormant sprays applied when they should have. It is important these be applied to control scale and other insects. If your trees and shrubs have not started to bud yet, you may still apply them.

You should also apply a light fertilizer to your spring bulb beds now, just as the bulbs are appearing.
